

SIXTY-SECOND YEAR

EDMONTON, ALBERTA—MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1942

DEFENCE MINISTER ANNOUNCES:

At Least 30 Shells Are Fired

An Editorial Contribute This Week

THIS week everyone in Edmonton is asked to make his or her annual contribution to the Air Cadet League of Canada. This district's allotment is $10,000, of which 75 per cent stays right here in Edmonton and 25 per cent goes to the Edmonton district organizations.

There is a grave misapprehension abroad in Edmonton about this whole matter and in particular regard to the "Celebrity Parade" which is being presented in connection with the annual drive.

There is a prevalent notion that tickets to this production are selling at from $3.50 to $10 apiece. Many people are hesitant to pay such prices in war time.

But such is not the case at all. Those prices are merely suggested contributions that will fill the house and cover the Edmonton budget for the coming year.

As a matter of fact, tickets are not being sold, in the strictest sense of the term, at all.

What happens is this: You make your annual contribution to the Air Cadet League, which you will certainly want to do, and tickets to Celebrity Parade are given to you in a complimentary way. Whether your contribution is $50, $100 or $500, you still get two tickets to this wonderful show in appreciation.

One man in Montreal made a contribution of $25,000 and yet took only two tickets.

The Air Cadet League of Canada is a highly necessary and vital auxiliary training plan. It gives boys instruction that saves them months training when they graduate into the senior service.

The Air Cadets in Edmonton have 153 members. More than 80 will graduate in September. There is, at present, a waiting list of 260 boys.

This is a splendid work which every reasonable and patriotic person will wish to support. Your annual contribution is requested this week. Your contribution to this contribution will be given complimentary tickets to "Celebrity Parade."

Don't fail to contribute generously this week.

SMUTS REVEALS:

Most of South African Soldiers Escape Tobruk

LONDON, June 22—(AP)—Gen. Jan Christiaan Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa, announced today that, although "substantial numbers" of South African troops were captured at Tobruk, most of the force from South Africa remained intact and ready to help Egypt, the BBC said.

"These units, together with the reinforcements which South Africa will now provide, will constitute a vital part in the defence of Egypt and in the ultimate withdrawal of Libya from Axis hands," Smuts said.

Another BBC broadcast said that although Axis shells of Tobruk harbor made it impossible to embark troops, four supply ships escaped from the port during the fight, saving their cargoes of war material.

The broadcast quoted a dispatch from Cairo that British, South African and Indian troops were strenuously engaged in the work of demolition, and they may have been more successful in destroying stores and equipment than might have been expected considering the shortness of the time at their disposal.

British Strike At Enemy As Battle For Egypt Opens

Sevastopol Defenders Are Forced Back By Germans

British Demand Explanation Of Tobruk's Loss

By EDWARD BEATTIE
LONDON, June 22—(BUP)—A demand for an immediate explanation of the "military disaster" in Libya, particularly the role played by the British, was made in parliament today amid growing public anger over what was called Britain's worst defeat since Singapore.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who is conferring with President Roosevelt in the United States, attacked in many quarters and it was agreed that it must bring back "something convincing" if he is to allay the spreading anger.

James Henderson, Liberal member of parliament, introduced a question in the House of Commons demanding an immediate government inquiry fixing responsibility for officially issued statements which had led Britons to believe that the R.A.F. held aerial superiority over the North Africa desert battlefield.

"How did the enemy succeed so easily in bringing up troops, guns and transport, and establishing forward bases at the head of our forces?" Stewart asked.

He demanded that Secretary of State Sir Archibald Sinclair "initiate an immediate inquiry into the matter."

Complete Help Pledged Soviet By Churchill

LONDON, June 22—(CP)—A message from Prime Minister Churchill to Joseph Stalin on the first anniversary of Russia's aid today "the fighting ability of our two allies and of our other allies in whom there has now been joined the vast resources of the United States, will surely bring our enemies to their knees."

"You can count on us to assist you by every means in our power," the Prime Minister added.

The message contained "a renewed expression of our admiration for the magnificent defence of your forces, guerrilla bands and civilian workers," and expressed the conviction that "these achievements will be equalled and surpassed in the course of the campaign."

Mr. Churchill recalled that Britain soon would enter her fourth year of the war.

He told the Soviet premier the Anglo-American year past "has been a year of the greatest strengthening of relations between our two peoples during the past year and said:

"That truly is a pledge that we shall continue our efforts and when the war is over build a sure peace for all freedom-loving peoples."

Statement By Leaders Soon On Conference

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—Vital conference between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt were described today by the White House as "very satisfactory."

It was disclosed the two United States leaders expected to issue a joint statement later on.

They were conferring together with military, naval and air experts of both countries.

This much was revealed by press secretary Stephen Early. But he had nothing to add on specific details of the conference, such as whether the two leaders were focusing their attention primarily on the question of opening a second fighting front in Europe or on possible steps to stave off an even more decisive defeat at the hands of the Axis armies in North Africa.

The statement from Early that the two leaders were continuing their talks in Washington was the first word about the secret deliberations of the President and Churchill since the latter arrived in this country Thursday.

The capture of Tobruk seems the inevitable prelude to an Axis attempt to take Alexandria and Suez in conjunction with a general drive for the Caucasus and the Middle East.

The loss of Tobruk is perhaps not an "inconceivable disaster" as described by a section of the London Press, but it is a blow which cannot be minimized. Col. Gen. Erwin Rommel, the astute German commander, has strengthened his position considerably.

He now has control of a serviceable port of entry for supplies by sea, and a large amount of material, including artillery, tanks and automotive equipment, has been put in good fighting shape.

'Liberal Magna Carta' For Free France Is Framed By De Gaulle

LONDON, June 22—(CP)—The French government today announced a "Liberal Magna Carta" outlining a Free French political platform which will have the support of all underground organizations in France.

These sources said the statement, which would make the Free French political as well as a military force, was compiled with the aid of French underground leaders and a series of secret communications with National-occupied Europe over a period of four months.

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN

CAIRO, June 22—(BUP)—British fighters and bombers today struck on land and in the Mediterranean, in an effort to halt the sweep of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis forces across the Libyan desert and to the Egyptian frontier.

Squadrons of R.A.F. planes raised explosive upon Rommel's forces and an Axis convoy of the Libyan coast while British mobile forces battled enemy tanks at the Egyptian frontier where the British have thrown up a new line in defense of Egypt and the Suez canal.

The British, a communiqué said, to midday and night bombers with Rommel's forces, 12 miles southwest of Sid Barrani, 12 miles northwest of Port Said.

McMILLAN Egyptian border, after being driven out of Libya and losing "impracticable" Tobruk and 2000 men of its garrison.

Both sides appeared to be feeling out each other's strength along the frontier line and it was believed that Rommel's forces, which might be resumed in force to the accomplishment of three air bombings of Malta and Alexandria naval base, and perhaps the landing of parachute troops from Crete to the new British line.

Japanese Base Established On Kiska Island

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—The United States navy announced yesterday that the Japanese have put forces ashore at Kiska Island and apparently are attempting to establish some sort of base on that Aleutian island, only 585 miles from the navy's Dutch Harbor base.

This second enemy foothold in the Western Hemisphere was made known in a communiqué which said that army bombers, raising the harbor at Kiska, had sunk a transport and apparently hit a cruiser.

Penis and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on land, the communiqué said.

This indicated that the enemy had made some progress since a navy communiqué June 12 reported Japanese ships in the harbor at Kiska in the Aleutian chain which stretches out from Alaska toward Japan.

WEATHER HAMPER

In reporting the army bomber raid, the navy's communiqué—first in a week of developments in the Aleutians—observed that operations against the Japanese "continued to be restricted by considerations of weather and great distances."

The raid by army bombers was made "within the last few days," the navy said. It results had not been reported previously.

The hits on the cruiser and the sinking of a transport raised the possibility that the Japanese might sink or damage in the Aleutians at least four cruisers, a destroyer and two transport ships.

The apparent impact of the Japanese to establish themselves at Kiska was regarded as of greater consequence than their first landing at Attu.

MAN FAIR HARBOR
Kiska not only is nearer Dutch Harbor but also is a nearer harbor, the site of a former coaling station for ships. Attu, on the other hand, has poor harbor facilities for ships of any size at present.

A satisfactory temporary base might be set up at Kiska, however, by the use of steel landing mats.

Kiska Island, about 30 miles long and 10 miles wide, is a volcanic island whose greater elevation is a northern peak of more than 1,000 feet. The harbor, on a east-central coast, is broad and deep.

The island is sparsely inhabited by Indians and a few white traders.

LI-COL. H. B. Jamieson, officer commanding the 2nd Bn., Edmonton Fusiliers (RICA), whose appointment as officer commanding the regiment on its mobilization for active service as part of the 7th Canadian Division, was announced Monday by Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commander. It is expected mobilization will take place about July 1. Lt.-Col. Jamieson went overseas in the ranks of the 101st Edmonton Fusiliers in 1914.

He has commanded the present unit since it was mobilized as part of the Reserve Army in 1940.

Col. Ralston said further information had been received from the commander of the attack, Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, in addition to that contained in a statement released last night.

The shelling lasted about 40 minutes but no damage was done, the minister said.

Canadian naval and air forces were ordered to the area at once.

Col. Ralston said the government's policy on the time of release of information on the incident was to make the information public as soon as possible after the event.

The first announcement of the seven-point incident was issued last night by Col. Ralston. At that time it was said the attack took place at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday night and that "a submarine" was responsible.

VICTORIA, June 22—(CP)—Possibility an enemy surface raider was on the move along Canadian-United States west coast was raised here today as a shelling attack on the shore near Seattle, Ore., followed a similar attack Saturday night on the Dominion government radio station at Estevan, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. No damage was reported in either.

In commenting on the calmness of the people of British Columbia following the shelling of the war on Canadian soil, Mayor Andrew McEwen of Victoria said the people "would like to learn if the seafarer attacker is the same as the one in Russia. If it is, it is a disaster."

Serious Consequences Of Libya Defeat Are Feared: Mighty Blundering Hinted

Rommel has eased his water supply problem, an important factor in his desert campaign. He has also obtained some British air fields which will be of use in bombing attacks on Alexandria and Suez. Rommel's air force has been active in recent weeks and planes are likely to play an important part in any attempt to sweep eastward through Egypt.

MAY PRESS ADVANCE
It is possible, although not certain, that Rommel will pause for a few weeks to re-shape his force and organize Tobruk to take full advantage of its facilities before attempting a drive into Egypt. On the other hand, having secured a sizeable chunk of British manpower and equipment, he may elect to press his advance before the Imperial forces can get their second wind.

is going on in southern Russia and certain other Axis advances. Rommel's drive suggests a pattern for Hitler, suggesting aid for the fall of the Middle East.

PRELIMINARY DRIVE
A drive at Kerch would naturally be paralleled by a push down from Kozlov and against Rostov. It is generally accepted that Hitler has not yet thrown his full strength into the Ukraine, but the present drive was preliminary to the main effort.

Noting that Rommel may attempt to break through the Egyptian line at Tobruk as a supply base just as he used Benghazi. The news from the front would be a serious blow and might lead to a change in the campaign, the newspaper said. "For the second time we seemed to have got the better of Rommel for the second time when victory appeared to be within our grasp, but he contrived to outmanoeuvre us."

THE DAILY MAIL said the fall of Tobruk completed a disaster in British military history. It was "an other stern warning of the great strength and resourcefulness of our enemy."
It declared "the munitious piling up in the United States and Britain, and the fact that we can carry them into action" and warned that "the fall of Tobruk is another sign that our greatest need in this stage of the war are buildings."

Lumber Mill At Coast Is Damaged

In 2-Alarm Blaze

VANCOUVER, June 22—(CP)—A two-alarm fire last night gutted a lumber mill at the coast.

I LOVE ANIMALS. DON'T YOU?

YEH-- LIKE DEER AN' STUFF, YOU MEAN!

...ber Company in Vancouver's East End, creating a blaze that could be seen all over the city before firemen brought it under control after a fight of almost an hour.

Thousands of cords of piled lumber in the mill yard were saved when firemen prevented the fire from spreading.

Origin of the blaze was not known. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

King Peter Of

Yugoslavia Is In Washington

WASHINGTON, June 22—(AP)—King Peter of Yugoslavia arrived in Washington by plane Sunday afternoon, the state department announced, accompanied by the Yugoslavian foreign minister, M. Nitchich. The 46-year-old monarch will leave today "for a few days in the country," the announcement said, and will travel incognito until Wednesday.

"ASSAULT", "OFFENCE" THEIR WATCHWORDS

Commandos Preparing Big Surprise For Those Nazis

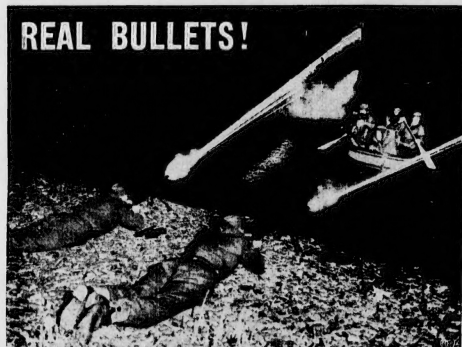

Using only single ropes and wearing all necessary equipment, commandos scale a 100-foot cliff, left. "Assault," "Offence" are their watchwords. After their swim the commandos climb a vertical wall with the aid of improvised ladders, centre. Exercises such as these would make most of the old-time parade ground drills look like a tea party. It all adds up to a big surprise for Adolf Schickelgruber and his armies. A short rest period for part of the assault unit while some of their comrades cross a ravine on improvised bridges of stout ropes, right. Commandos are taught to use such bridges for crossing deep rivers, crevices and other obstacles. Ingenuity and initiative in surmounting any obstacle in his path is the mark of a good commando. Never stuck — he must be a combination of Tarzan and Superman.

Ann Sheridan—after returning to the studio at the end of her extended tour of soldier camps in the West—had so many requests from service men for pocket-size pictures of herself—that she sat right down, assumed one of her 'come hither' poses, and had her likeness taken. She had them made into a size to slip into an identification-card case and now is sending them, properly autographed to every one of her fighting force fans. Ann is now starring in "Wings of the Eagle" and "Juke Girl."

There's No Fooling In This "Sham" Battle

REAL BULLETS!

Flash of real bullets and explosive charges takes the sham out of battle for British troops drilling for invasion. Picked snipers fire tracer ammunition over heads of their fellow soldiers making an "attack landing." Note man in boat firing real sub-machine gun bullets toward shore.

Shake, Pal

Two brave "Admirals," both veterans of the sinking of the carrier U.S.S. Lexington in the Coral Sea, congratulate each other upon safe arrival in San Diego, Calif. Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, skipper of the carrier, was last to leave the ship—except for "Admiral" Wags, his pet spaniel, who was with him during the fight.

His Revenge Was Sweet

It's 28 United Nations Now

The pen fashions an anti-Axis victory as mighty as the sword as two more countries join the 26 United Nations. Here, at United Nations Day ceremonies at the White House, Mexican Ambassador Dr. Don Francisco Castillo Najera, left, and President Roosevelt exchange signatures as Mexico joins up with the democratic front. Looking on are Secretary of State Cordell Hull, right, and Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Commonwealth, which also joined the signatories. Other United Nations representatives watch from the background.

Blackout Ensemble

According to G. R. Williams, Toronto inventor, here is what the well-dressed girl should wear in a blackout: "Black-light hairband, lapel buttons, purse, armband and shoes. This ensemble goes with specially treated stop-signs, lights, curb-markers and telephone dials.

Picture Proves Sherman Was Wrong

When General Sherman said "War is hell," he didn't reckon with future events. The above photo shows Yanks and Australian soldiers having their lives brightened by a group of chorus girls in the Land-Down-Under. Some of the girls hold regular full-time jobs in war plants. (Passed by Censor.)
